“PRAISE THE LORD”

102 SHACKLEWELL LANE,
DALSTON, LONDON, E. MAR 21, 1884.

Dear Interior:

Our Caledonian Road meeting closed in blessing to-night with a sermon on the 2d coming of our dear LORD. A precious week of service—all too short for the best results. But we must close when our invitation expires and wait for the “good time coming,” when we shall be unfettered as to coming and going by “committees,” “boards,” “pastors” or what not.

SUNDAY, March 24th.—Began at Bromley le Bow, in a Baptist tabernacle, of which Bro. W. T. Lambourne is pastor. It is a new structure, seating 1,200 and holding 1,500 and one of the neatest audience-rooms I have seen. Bro. Lambourne is a young man yet, though an experienced worker for the LORD. We took tea in the vestry with him and his excellent wife. We reached the preaching place by the Blackwell branch of the North London Railway in 20 minutes from the Dalston junction. Alighting at the Poplar station, another 20 minutes—this time on Shanks’ mare, instead of the “iron horse”—brought us via East India Dock Road to the cor. of Brunswick Road and Zealand street, where, in the heart of a dense population of artisans and dock-yard men, this important enterprise has been carried on for several years. For two years Bro. L. wrought in a tent; then got the funds for building and now is progressing swimmingly, with a strong church and a fine band of workers.

We took to Bro. and Sister L. at first sight and I believe the attachment was reciprocal. May the truth bind us more closely together in all time to come. We had a noble audience to-night and the dear LORD filled the house with His glorious presence. A grand beginning. Praise the LORD.

MONDAY, March 10th.—A package of British Times from good Bro. Egerton, containing a report of my sermon on the “Brass Serpent,” evidently inserted to “ruin” me, as there were a number of most vicious “quips” in the same issue, showing the animus of the editor. I duly cut all out and inserted in my scrap-book, where I preserve other records of the same kind from both sides the “Herring Pond.”

At the night meeting, a splendid attendance for Monday and the dear LORD gave utterance on a point that of late has taken most definite and engrossing shape in mind and heart, viz: the disaster that invariably accompanies any attempt to know God outside the Person of Jesus Christ. The “heavens may declare His glory and the firmament His handy work,” but men have stupidly stared at them for 6,000 years and only grow worse and worse. Jesus alone lets us into His heart of LOVE. Therefore our eyes are directed to Him alone “looking unto Jesus!” That is the only salvation. He is the only “Word” that receives the “secret of the LORD.” It is all ignorance of the true God till then. When I know this, how simple life becomes! How mysteries vanish! I only study God in the Person of Jesus. He is the “express image of His Person.” Until I see Jesus kill some one, I will not believe God kills any one. Until I see Jesus sicken some one, I will not believe God sends sickness. And so on to the end of the chapter. How joyous the fact! We are shut up to Jesus for all our knowledge of God. Praise His Name!

TUESDAY, March 11th.—Another noble congregation to-night—rapidly increasing in numbers and interest. Dear Bro. Lambourne, with most unselfish zeal, upholds our hands. At the after meeting to-night he declared that he had received more light and blessing as to the meaning of scripture in these three days than 10 years past in the study of books. This most unexpected testimony to the power of the truth quite overwhelmed us with joy. “Praise the LORD, the parson is converted,” said a rough Cornwall man, when Wm. Haslam was fully won over to a clean cut gospel and preached it from his Church of England pulpit a few years ago. We echoed the word of praise to-night in our hearts. What may we not expect in the way of blessing with an honest pastor and united people. Such a preacher as Bro. Lambourne is a rarity and I feel sure that unbounded blessing will come from this bold stand for the simple truth—letting go “consistency”—early training, everything, for Jesus. We were a happy lot, riding home in the train, as we praised the LORD for His goodness and rejoiced over the “conversion” of a “preacher,” for he, like Peter of old, can now “strengthen his brethren.” Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

It cost $67,226 per mile to build the Pacific railroad. The New Mexican Central has been built at a cost of $24,000 per mile. The latter was fully as difficult to construct and as expensive, but Boston capital built the latter without Government aid.

The Emancipated Cook.

BY MISS WALLACE.

Shout the glad news. Oh let it go forth, To the East and the West, to the South and the North, Let the valleys proclaim it and the hills answer back, I am free from dish-water, I am free from pot-black, I am free from the smell of boiled cabbage and pork, I am free from the lale and from the flesh-fork, I am free from the tray, where for many an hour My poor arms have ached from working up flour, I am free from pot, I am free from kittle, Where hot boiling steam has oft tried my mettle, I am free from the heat that caused sweat to flow; When the weather was cold and the thermometer low.

The democratic party is committed to tariff reform and for it to recede one foot is irretrievable ruin. There are but two issues before the country: Who shall have the offices and what shall be done with the tariff!

Some say, “Let us first get in and then we’ll paint things red;” but the people of a great nation are not to have the wool pulled over their eyes in that style. There must be some material measure between the parties, else the republicans will again win on the old cry of “Let well enough alone.”

The Kentucky democrats ought to speak out in their State convention in no uncertain tones and formulate their sentiments as to men and measures. The meeting here in May is of vital moment to the party, as it is one of the early conventions.

The Capital appropriation bill was the red rag that set the Legislative bulls to roaring and raging during the past week. Lexington gave a gorgeous banquet the night before the bill was to come up, which was attended by about half of the members.

It was a very handsome entertainment and with the beautiful country and splendid drives, gave the visitors a most favorable idea of Lexington as a Capital site. But strange to say, the next day the House voted for Louisville as the proper place for the flag to float. There is no likelihood of the Capital being removed this session and the appropriation bill is more than doubtful. The recent kiss-and-make up between Lexington and Louisville don’t seem to insure to the blue grass city’s benefit.

This is now strong talk of the Legislature adjourning the 25th of this month to an adjourned session next winter. The session may however be prolonged until after the State convention, which meets May 7th in this city. There have been over a thousand bills passed so far, but all the important legislation is banked up towards the close of the session, with no indication of relief. The much-needed revenue laws are untouched and it is to mature these that the adjourned session is advocated. As it now stands, everything is in a tangle, but much good may be accomplished before the close of the session.

Hon. J. W. Leech, Representative from Caldwell county, who died in this city a few days since, was one of the most useful men in his section of the State and as a Legislator he was faithful and efficient. He was highly respected by his fellow members. He left an estate valued at $100,000. Mr. Leech was the third member to die since the election last August. The member from Grant county committed suicide before, or just after the Legislature met and Judge Payne, of Warren, who died some days ago, never took his seat. Two State officers—the Register and Librarian—died since the General Assembly met.

MONROE MORRIS, a farmer of Robertson county, Tenn., gathered three grains of corn from the tassel of an ear and planted again and produced a variety of corn which yields from three to five times as much as any other variety. He raised 21 barrels and 2 bushels to the acre on ordinary ground that had produced 6 barrels of common corn. The truth of these statements is vouched for by all of the officials of Robertson county, and the U. S. Government was so impressed with the value of the corn that it has purchased 500 bushels at $15 per bushel. Mr. Warren Viley planted a small quantity of it last year and raised two or three bushels—[Midway Clipper.

DOMESTIC MISERY.—No unhappiness in life is equal to unhappiness at home. All other personal miseries can be better borne than the terrible misfortune of domestic disunion, and none so completely demoralizes the nature. The anguish of disease itself is modified, ameliorated, even rendered blessed by the tender touch, the dear presence of the sympathetic beloved, and loss of fortune is not loss of happiness where family love is left. But the want of that love is not to be supplied by anything. Health, fortune, success, nothing has its full flavor when the home is unhappy, and the greatest triumphs out-of-doors are of no avail to cheer the sinking heart when the misery within has to be encountered.

It has become customary to attempt to vote something out of the Public Treasury for the families of office-holders who die “in harness,” as it is called. This is a good thing so far as it goes, but does not nearly every honest worker die “in harness?” What is the difference between working for the State and working for an ordinary employer? For every office there is always a great rush. There is no scarcity of public servants. They are often paid a great deal more than they earn. If every officer who dies “in harness” is entitled to pecuniary consideration, so is every good citizen; for who serves the State better than a good citizen? If the public money is to flow, let it flow so that every worthy man may get his share.—[Padman in C. J.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT.

Editor Interior Journal:

FRANKFORT, April 7, 1884.—There seems to be a dead calm in politics, notwithstanding the State Convention is only a month off and the national convention only about ninety days ahead. Already the democrats are scared and squatting—afraid of their own shadows. The name of that Indian chief, “Man-afraid-of-his-horses,” would seem to suit our party very well. With the right on our side and the people ready to march like an army with banners, we are letting Sam Randall and his gang of protectionists bluff us on a bob-tail flush.

The democratic party is committed to tariff reform and for it to recede one foot is irretrievable ruin. There are but two issues before the country: Who shall have the offices and what shall be done with the tariff!

“Climb in what?”
“In the skiff. Hurry up!”
“Wall, stranger, I’m pretty well fixed. Don’t take no work to move along.”

“Where are you going?”
“Down the river.”
“We know that. Where you from?”
“From up the river.”

“Of course you are—”

“What made you ax, then?”

“What are you doing on that log?”

“Travelin’.”

“What do you want to fool with us for? Don’t you know you’ll drown if you keep on this way?”

“Won’t drown if I keep on thiser way. I’ll wuster to git off in the water I mount down.”

“Where is your family?”

“Did your house wash away?”

“Sorter. My wife’s back yander on a cottonwood log an’ my son Bill’s comin’ along somers on a poplar.”

“Why don’t you come to the shore?”

“Cause it don’t cost nothin’ ter ride.”

“You’d better come off and get a drink of whisky.”

“Dinged if I don’t do it. Feller back here wanted me to come out and hear him preach, but he didn’t have the right kin’ of gospel. Now, fellers, pull for the shore as fas’ as yet ken.”—[Arkansaw Traveler.

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal

Stanford, Ky., - - - April 8, 1884

W. P. WALTON.

SENATOR GARNETT has offered a bill, which is made the special order for the 10th inst., to regulate the number of peremptory challenges and the manner of selecting juries in felony cases. We have not seen a copy of this bill, but we trust it provides for a reduction of the number of challenges allowed the defense to the number allowed the prosecution, at any rate to equalize them. As the law now stands, the counsel for a law-breaker can almost pack the jury in favor of his client, or at least secure enough men of a fellow feeling to see that no verdict is made unless it be of acquittal. A bill embracing these ideas has been presented in the Ohio Legislature and there is every reason that it will pass. We do hope our Legislature will redeem itself by doing likewise and thus give the law-abiding men a chance.

The question of holding another Press Association is being agitated and in the connection the Shelbyville Sentinel makes the best suggestion we have seen. It is, instead of taxing any town in the State with the fraternity and its accompanying following of dead-beats, that President Johnson arrange for a Western and Southern excursion to embrace Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, &c. We heartily second the suggestion, provided none but accredited newspaper men are permitted to go as a part of the association. Such a trip would give our closely confined editors a chance to see the world and by getting an insight into the enterprise of the western cities, make them less hidebound and more progressive in their ideas.

In response to an inquiry from the Legislature, Auditor Hewitt states that there will be on the 30th of June a deficit of $47,991.47 in the State Treasury. This estimate is made on the immediate adjournment of the Legislature and will be increased at the rate of $1,500 a day, besides appropriations, as long as it remains in session. As it has done nothing of note so far and as the presumption is well-founded that it will do nothing, we ask in the name of economy that the body adjourn and let its members go to planting corn.

BLAINE will have the almost solid support of the Pennsylvania republicans at the Chicago convention as most of the districts have instructed for him. He is by far the best man in the republican party and if we are to have a continuation of the party in power, which we hope and believe a just God will forbid, we had rather see him President than any of them. Arthur, it is said, is beginning to see that his chances for a four years' more of office is exceedingly slim and his friends are getting up an Elmundo boom.

GEN. WILLIAMS C. WICKHAM, a leading republican of Virginia, and a member of the State Senate, testified before the Danville investigating committee that there had been no unlawful combination against the colored people and that in his opinion, gained by considerable travel over the State, the last was one of the purest elections ever held in it. And his word is worth more than that of all the Johnnie Wives and other political tricksters, who are trying to make capital out of the Danville affair, put together.

The Capitol removal question has cost the State many a dollar during this session and has been a serious obstacle to more important business. The House spent three days wrestling with it last week and the matter is no nearer solved than it was five years ago. It seems to us that it ought to be settled one way or the other and forever afterwards eliminated from the attention of the Legislature; but so long as Frankfort and Lexington give the members free lunch we fear it will not be.

NEW YORK dudes are all torn up over the decision of the governors of the Union Club, suspending Livingston for five years because he refuses to apologize for calling Langtry's shadow, Freddie Gedhardt, a "coward and a liar." Mr. Livingston evidently believes that the circumstances bear him out in using the epithets, and under the circumstances, we admire his pluck in sticking to his original proposition.

THOSE persons who imagine that an overweening loyalty to the party animates those publishers who keep the call for a State democratic convention in their columns for months, to the exclusion of better reading, are wrong in their diagnosis of the case. It is a matter of economy in composition and the same papers would run a dead-head electrolyzed advertisement with equal alacrity.

HAVING tired of the quail-eating feast, the New Yorkers are now deeply interested in whether a certain gluton will eat 60 eggs a day for five days, as he has wagered to do. He had gotten away with 180 at last accounts and the silly-minded people interested in the silly feast were delighted.

We are glad to observe that the charge against McC. Jay French, Superintendent of the 5th Railway Mail Division, have been thoroughly disproved before a commission and that he will continue to conduct the affairs of his office in the usually satisfactory manner.

The attention of the Richmond Register is called to the fact that the Legislature passed long enough in its mad desire to declare every branch and brooklet in the State a navigable stream, to order that hereafter a certain creek shall be a river.

The Boston Post declares its ticket to be Bayard and McDonald. Turn it "eend for eend" and it will take like wild fire.

The Postal Telegraph job will not get through Congress this session, we are happy to say. The Senate committee favors it, but the House committee voted 8 to 2 that it was inexpedient for the government to undertake the business. With the Post-office, the Telegraph, the Internal Revenue, Customs and other offices, manned to the idea of the controlling party, such a thing as a change of the politics of the administration would never again be known.

It is estimated that the government makes a clear profit of $7,000,000 on the fractional currency it issued during and just after the war. The total amount put into circulation was $46,000,000 and though the redemption began in 1874, but $39,000,000 have been redeemed. The rest is either worn out, lost, destroyed or held as curiosities, thus making the United States the gainer by the amount named.

The Harrodsburg Democrat has changed to an eight page paper and is much improved. The name of our old friend and employee, John G. Pulliam, now appears at its mast, as Superintendent of the Printing department.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

The Senate has passed the House bill to prohibit the using of bicycles, tricycles, &c., on the public highway.

A bill to establish a new county out of parts of Knox, Whitley and Laurel counties, has been presented by one Mr. Unthank.

A bill requiring county attorneys to assist the Commonwealth's attorneys in felony and other cases, for which they are to receive 20 per cent. of the fines and forfeitures has passed the Senate.

Gov. Knott's signature is all that is wanted now to make the bill a law to prevent the circulation of obscene and immoral literature. The Police Gazette and similar publications will have to go.

Hon. J. H. Leech, the Representative from Caldwell county, died at Frankfort, after an illness of some weeks. The House adjourned in respect to his memory and appointed a committee to accompany his remains to Princeton.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

Chas. Reade, the novelist, is dying in London.

Wm. Procter, the great soap manufacturer, is dead at Cincinnati.

Bourne (Rep.) was elected Governor of Rhode Island by over 6,000 majority.

Fifteen deaths have resulted from wounds received during the riot at Cincinnati.

Barbed-wire manufacturers met at Chicago and advanced the price of wire 10 per cent.

A prominent builder suggests that the Cincinnati court house can be restored for $100,000.

General Grant promises to do all in his power to aid in the proposed home for Confederate soldiers.

Three murderers climbed the golden stairs via the hempen route at as many points in the U. S. Friday.

George Lee, colored, was taken from Magnolia, Miss., jail by a mob and hanged for raping a 4-year-old child.

Paymaster Broadhead, who became insane on account of the theft of Government funds in his hands, died at Boston, Friday.

The republicans of Simpson county met at Franklin appointed delegates to the State convention and endorsed Arthur's Administration.

Sheriff Jack Ringo, who led the men-of-the-mob at Mt. Sterling and was seriously wounded, fatally shot an escaping prisoner Saturday.

George James at Pittsburgh, for the murder of another negro and John and George Stephenson, in Wyoming Territory were hung Thursday.

William Galway, under sentence of two years' imprisonment for the murder of William Beaman, in Louisville, was pardoned by the Governor.

Gov. Murray was completely exonerated by the Congressional investigating Committee of the charges made against him by John D. White and others.

The steamship Neptune has arrived at St. Johns, N. F., with 41,500 seals, the largest catch on record. They were taken in twelve days, and are valued at $125,000.

The Governor has nominated Dr. J. C. McReynolds, of Todd county; Dr. W. L. Breyfogle, of Jefferson county, and Dr. J. A. Lucy, of Woodford county, for members of the State Board of Health.

Ingalls and Johnson, the two infamous villains who murdered a family and sold their remains to a medical college, have been playing the insanity dodge since the mob raided the Cincinnati Jail.

The House Committee on Post offices and Postroads, by a vote of 8 to 2, have reported that it is inexpedient for the Government to either construct a postal telegraph or purchase any existing line of telegraph.

The steamship Daniel Steinmann, from Antwerp for Halifax, struck on the Sisters, off Sambro, 20 miles from Halifax and sunk. Of her 140 passengers, only the captain and five of the crew are said to have been saved.

It was street talk in Cincinnati that William Bishop, son of the ex Governor of Ohio, John E. Bell and Allan O. Myers, had purchased the entire stock of the New Journal and that Myers will be the managing editor. - [Covington Commonwealth.]

The steamer Rebecca Everington valued at $24,000 and having aboard 307 bales of cotton and other freight was burned on the Chattahoochee river. Two passengers and eleven of the boat's crew lost their lives and others were fatally injured.

It is said that Collector Swope has called for the resignation of Robert E. Blaine, editor of the Maysville Republican, because he placed the name of Wadsworth at the head of his columns for Congress. Blaine is a relative of the "Plumed Knight."

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT

Lancaster.

Communion services were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Dawson, of Virginia, Ill., officiating. Preparatory services were held Friday and Saturday in which Dr. J. S. McKee, of Danville, participated. Protracted services will begin at the Baptist church next week.

A public meeting was held at the Court-house Saturday afternoon in the interest of the Garrard Female College, where several speeches were made and contributions were received.

Hugh M. Grant, class '86 Centre College, was in town Saturday and Sunday. Graham Smith, class '84 Central University, is visiting Cabell Denny, a former roommate. Col. Jno. F. Faulkner, of Louisville, spent last week in Garrard with relatives.

Worthless dogs have been playing havoc with sheep in this community.

They have already killed 35 or 40 for Jno. S. Gill and 30 for Mrs. Zack Elkin. The losses will amount to over $400 for these two parties alone, while others over the county have lost enough to make equally as much. All the dogs in the U. S. are not worth that amount. A war of extermination should be declared against the worthless curs. Mr. Gill informs me that he has kept an accurate account of his losses on sheep killed by dogs and it now amounts to $1,200. Something should be done by the Legislature to rid the country of this trouble.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

A young horse hitched to a fine buggy belonging to W. D. Moore, ran away on Sunday and smashed the buggy to smithereens, the horse was uninjured. The buggy was worth about $200.

A letter received from Mr. Maurice J. Garrison Saturday from Citronville, Alas., states that his health has recently much improved. This will be gratifying news to Mr. Garrison's many home friends.

Logan Powell got drunk Saturday night and painted a portion of our charming little city the hue of rose. He was run in at a late hour and was fined $5 and costs Monday morning and turned loose.

The republican brethren are to meet to day (Monday) at the court-house for the purpose of appointing 12 delegates to the State Convention and the same number to the 8th Congressional District Convention, both of which are to meet in Louisville on the 1st of May.

Rev. Green Clay Smith will preach at the New Providence church next Sunday, on which occasion church officers will be ordained. Dr. Wishard, the evangelist, will begin a protracted meeting at the Second Presbyterian church on Wednesday night.

Mr. L. F. Struve, late of Harrison county, on Friday purchased the desirable town property of W. G. Proctor on Fourth street. Possession will be given on or before the 15th inst. The county clerk on Monday morning recorded a conveyance for 160 acres of land from Julia A. Jett's heirs to Nannie S. Jett. The land lies about 3½ miles from town one mile North of the Lancaster pike in this county.

—Mrs. W. J. Lyle's fine mare "Lou Coons" by American Clay, the dam of George Wilkes, Jr., last week dropped a fine horse colt by Messenger Chief. Dick Elmo by St. Elmo, who was sold by Clay Powell, of Hustonville, 12 years ago at the Stanford fair for $500, is now making the season at the farm of Mr. W. L. Caldwell in this county. It will be seen that Dick after a long absence is gradually working his way home again.

—Barney Crosson, of Philadelphia, shipped on Saturday to that city seventeen good coach horses. While here he made his headquarters at Bruce & Hartman's livery and stable. On Friday Mr. Crosson and Mr. F. T. Fox, of Garrard county, made the following exchange: Mr. Crosson gave Mr. Fox $225 in cash and a 3 year-old gelding by Messenger Chief out of Paris Maid (record 27), for a Messenger Chief mare, 6 years old out of a pedigree mare.

—Mrs. John Grundy, of Marion county, who has been visiting friends in this vicinity, will go to Stanford on Wednesday, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Wm. P. Tate. Misses Celia Grossbeck, Annie Vaughn and Bessie Cohen, of Lancaster, were in town Saturday, the former the guest of Miss Nannie Bitterton, the two latter of Mrs. J. H. Davis. Mr. Sam F. McGuire, who is connected with the office of the Grand Treasurer of the Knights of Honor, was here from Saturday until Monday morning on a visit to his family. Mr. A. M. Swope, of Lexington, was at the Gilcher Hotel from Saturday till Monday.

—On Sunday about two o'clock a young colored man about 22 years old named Mack Vandever shot and killed his uncle, Stephen Carpenter, aged about 65 years. The shooting occurred in front of the elevator of Potts, Proctor & Co., near the depot in the presence of a considerable number of people, white and black. There had been bad feeling between the parties for some time caused by a suspicion on the part of Carpenter that his nephew was paying improper attention to his (Carpenter's) daughter, a young girl who has about reached womanhood. On that point Vandever denies the accusation in toto, declaring that he has never disturbed the girl and has had no wish to do so. The ill feeling from the above cause has been aggravated by the fact that some time last week Vandever slapped Bob, a 12-year-old son of Carpenter. A few minutes before the shooting Vandever passed Carpenter's house, which is about 150 yards West of the elevator, when Carpenter came out and began an angry conversation with him which ended as witnesses will say, by Carpenter declaring he would go in his house and get his pistol and kill Vandever. As he went in the house Vandever left and walked rapidly towards the depot and had reached the elevator when Carpenter overtook him and resumed the quarrel. Mr. F. W. Handman, whose attention was now drawn to the parties says that the first thing he heard was Carpenter call Vandever a d—d s— of a b—, to which the latter replied: "Uncle Steve, I've said I'd kill any man who called me such a name as that. I've been told that you've threatened to kill me." Carpenter answered "I said I'd kill you if you didn't keep off my place." Vandever then said something which Mr. Handman did not hear which Carpenter pronounced a d—d lie and advanced towards Vandever with clenched fist. Just then Vandever drew a pistol from his coat pocket and fired two shots. As the second shot was fired, Carpenter stooped down, picked up a stone and threw it slightly striking Vandever on the left side of his face. Carpenter then reeled and as he fell Vandever fired again and then walked rapidly in the direction of Col. W. F. Evans' farm where he has been employed as a laborer. A crowd soon started in pursuit, but although Vandever had only five minutes start he has not, up to this writing, been seen since he first passed out of sight. Dr. I. S. Warren examined the body of Carpenter, who was dead almost by the time he fell to the ground and found three wounds on his person. The first, in the left breast just above the nipple; the second in the right arm and the third in the right side below the ribs. The first and third wounds were mortal. Col. W. F. Evans, who has had Vandever in his employ since last October, said that he has been a quiet, orderly boy and a faithful laborer. Stephen Carpenter and George Vandever, Mack Vandever's father, are twin brothers and were raised in Casey county each taking the names of their masters who owned them in slavery times. No arms, save a pocket-knife, were found on Carpenter's body. It is said that when he went in the house for his pistol his wife hid it and would not tell him where it was and that he then asked for his gun but was told that it was at the house of a neighbor.

HUSTONVILLE, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—Mrs. Albert Purdy died on Friday night.

The M. and E. (late L. and I.) literary association met Friday evening. An unusually large number of interested visitors were present. The statement that these meetings were to be discontinued immediately, was premature.

—James Reid, who recently went to Kansas, has returned in the grip of a tertian, or quotidian ague. Anthony Ham, of Shelby City, and Ed Hood, of Washington county, with their families, are here on a visit. Dr. Taylor is composing a poetical work setting forth the excellence of the Weatherford Hotel. Al Huffman is likely to become poetic on a more tender theme. J. B. Green is off for the city for new goods. You will hear from him on his return. Mrs. S. A. Goods has moved to spend a while with her son, at the stone house, which has been greatly improved recently. Miss Naomi Cooper is seriously sick.

—Many of our sober citizens were perplexed last week by the mysterious movements of a gentlemanly stranger in and around our village. Armed with paper and pencil he perambulated the streets and posts, pausing in front of each building, threading the alleys, inspecting the rear appurtenances, taking copious notes and drawing suspicious-looking diagrams. Visions of bold burglaries, remorseless incendiaries and dynamite fiends began to be discussed with bated breath. Some of the more timid, whose imaginations had been fired by the report in the Enquirer, adopted the belief that a mob of one had taken possession and was recklessly running the town. Suspicious eyes followed the motions of the intruder and sleepless vigils gave evidence that the people were on their guard. At length a committee waited on J. W. Hocker, with whom the stranger had been seen, and learned that he was Mr. Borch, a representative of the Royal Insurance Company, on a tour of inspection in the interests of his company. Of course the panic subsided.

—A very little school-girl recently varied the monotony of the Friday afternoon declaimations by reciting, with evident feeling the following:

King Solomon, the wisest man
The world ever saw,
Was skilled in all the arts of peace,
Love, logic, literature and law.
But Solomon with all his wit
Could not get over this—
There's toil and labor everywhere,
In gaining earthly bliss.

He read his books with eager care,
And pondered topics fresh,
And then decided "Studies are Most wearying to the flesh."

I think old Sol was "mighty right,"
—I prove it day by day—
With studying much I'm wearied quite
And wasting fast away.

Then, when within my little grave,
My bones are laid to rest,
Just write this for my epitaph:
"She died by books oppressed."

ONE of the handsomest pieces of painting we have seen lately is a mirror which Mrs. E. P. Owsley has just completed. The flower girl, the roses and other objects are exceedingly well done and show skill of an order rarely developed by an amateur.

PITTSBURG—Mr. J. W. Bassett writes that this town, which was so badly used up by the cyclone, is fast assuming its old appearance. None of the losses are as great as first reported and that of the Laurel Coal Co. will not exceed $500 and it is open ready to do a full amount of business. All the companies are preparing for a big run on coal this fall.

ADAM CAIN, aged about 70, was run over at Penicks, below here on the L. & N., Saturday and fearfully mangled, the engine and ten freight cars passing over him. He was taken to Lebanon, where he lived only a short time. From what we can learn, the railroad company was not to blame for this or the other accident mentioned in this paper, as both men were drunk and placed themselves in perilous positions.

A FIRE which broke out about noon Saturday and which is unexplained, burned that portion of the poor-house property near Crab Orchard, known as the paupers' row. It contained 12 rooms and most of the movable furniture was gotten out. The property was valued at about $1,200 and was insured for $800 in the Lancaster shire. There was great danger that the main building would go, but citizens of Crab Orchard and the vicinity having arrived it was saved by an almost constant stream of water thrown by the bucket brigade. There were two or three cabins on the premises and in these the paupers will be kept till a new house can be built.

JUDGE FINLEY is a Judge after our own heart. There is no milk and water doing about him, but in all cases demanding it before the masculine bovine by the horns.

Last week one of his bonded prisoners was taken in charge by deputy U. S. Marshal Brown for a violation of the revenue laws and when Judge Finley wanted him he was told the state of the case. He immediately issued a rule against Brown to bring the prisoner before him. He refused to do so and the Judge promptly ordered him to be put in jail 30 hours for contempt of court.

He served his time and we have brought suit against the Judge for $10,000 for false imprisonment.

It is an interesting question and we hope that the Judge will continue to do so and it will be gratifying to know that this conflict of authority is not between a democratic Judge and a Government officer, else political capital would likely be made of it.
